FUNERAL OF R. J. LIST.—The funeral of R. J. List will be held this morning at 11 o'clock in the M. E. Church South, the cortege leaving the house at 10 o'clock. Interment will be in Greenwood.

THE VETERANS WERE OUT.—Forty veterans of the Union army and ten veterans of the Confederate army participated in yesterday's statehood parade, riding together in one battalion.

ALL-DAY MEETING.—The ladies of the Christian church will hold an all-day meeting in the church parlors Friday, Feb. 16th. Sewing begins at 9:30 and dinner at 12:30. Each lady is to bring one article of food for dinner.

DEATH OF MRS. PENDLETON.—Mrs. E. E. Pendleton died yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the family residence, 261 North First avenue, after an illness of about two weeks, of bronchial pneumonia. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

OLD-TIME RESIDENT DIES.—Mrs. J. D. Baine of South Eighth street died yesterday morning at 1 o'clock after a protracted illness. Mrs. Baine came to the valley forty-two years ago, and has resided here ever since. Among the relatives she leaves to mourn her loss are forty-three grandchildren.

W. H. CODE HERE.—W. H. Code of Los Angeles is in the city to witness the advent of statehood and shake hands with his old-time friends during the two or three days he plans to "stick around." Mr. Code was for many years a resident of this valley and later irrigation engineer of the Indian bureau. He resigned some time ago and is now engaged in private practice of his profession in company with J. H. Quinton. Mr. Code says the new firm is prosperous.

SERENADED.—The Republican received a special honor last evening at the instance of the Industrial Liberty band, which after its concert at the Ford hotel appeared in front of The Republican office and played several selections of inspiring music.

ON MISSION OF SADNESS.—Mrs. Kathryn Drakford of Livingston, Mont., arrived in the city yesterday morning to take charge of the body of her father, Thomas Francis, who died at the hospital a few days ago. She left with it last night for New York city, where burial will take place.

GOT THE ANSWER.—George U. Young, the retiring territorial secretary, who was given a cold sweat on Tuesday by a request from the department for a copy of all the official correspondence of Governor Sloan, and who demurred on the ground that the job was Herculean and there were no funds to pay for the work, received the pleasing advice from the department yesterday to let the matter drop.

TICKETS WILL BE GOOD.—Today the Arizona Auction & Development company will hold its big auction sale of 100 business and residence lots at Glendale. Yesterday tickets over the Glendale interurban line were distributed about town. These were dated for Feb. 22, and should have read Feb. 15. Considerable confusion has resulted, but Mr. Getsinger is covering his field again with information correcting the error in dates.

A FINE SHOW WINDOW.—Among the many attractive show window displays gotten up for Admission day was that of Nelson & White, the popular Blue Ribbon shoe dealers. In one window are displayed artistically forty-seven styles of shoes, arranged around the national shield bearing the Stars and Stripes that the date of the admission of each state is shown. In the other window is a shoe holding a large shield with the date of February 14, 1912, and bearing the word Arizona. Taken altogether, the windows attracted the attention of the multitude as it passed by yesterday.

DEATH OF MRS. O. J. THOMPSON.—Mrs. O. J. Thompson of 127 East Van Buren street died last evening at the Sisters' hospital, as the result of an operation for cancer several days ago. She is survived by her husband and her son, J. H. Thompson, of this city. The funeral will be held this afternoon in the chapel of Moore & McCallan. The family has lived here for the last twelve years and is well known. Mrs. Thompson was an active member of the Christian church and had many friends, who will mourn her rather unexpected death, for it was only recently that her dangerous malady was disclosed.

TEMPE NORMAL HEARS STATEHOOD TALKS

Attorney General Bullard and Sharlot Hall Address Students On Duty of Future and History of the Past.

Attorney General George Purdy Bullard and Miss Sharlot Hall tore themselves away from the statehood celebration in Phoenix long enough to address the students of the Normal school at Tempe, and take to the south side metropolis something of the spirit of the day which found more complete expression at the capital.

The talks were listened to by an audience of more than a hundred highly appreciative of the privilege. The attorney general spoke of the "Responsibilities of Statehood," and eloquently discussed the important part to be played by the boys and girls in such development.

Miss Hall discussed the history of Arizona, and as no one is more competent to handle so interesting and diverting a subject her talk was most timely.

The balance of the program was carried out as outlined in The Republican.

THERE YOU ARE SAID MR. TAFT

Off-hand Remark Made by the President as He Finished Signing Proclamation Conferring Statehood on Arizona.

[Associated Press Dispatch]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—To the accompaniment of the whirr of three moving picture machines, which faithfully recorded the historic incident, and a clicking battery of cameras lined along the walls of the executive office, President Taft at 10 o'clock this morning attached his name to the proclamation admitting Arizona into the Union as the forty-eighth, and probably the last, state in at least half a century to join the sisterhood of states. The only bit of territory now remaining in the confines of the continental United States is the District of Columbia. After signing the duplicate which will be forwarded to Arizona, the president looked up with a smile and said: "There you are."

He used a gold pen, which later was presented to Postmaster General Hitchcock. The room was crowded during the ceremony with all the Arizonians in the capital and numerous officials and many newspaper men. President Taft will send tomorrow the nomination of Richard E. Sloan, last territorial governor of Arizona, to the senate, to be United States district judge for the new state. President Taft sent the following telegram to Sloan: "I have this morning signed the prolamation declaring Arizona to be a state of the Union. I congratulate the people of this, our newest, commonwealth upon the realization of their long-cherished ambition. Best wishes to retiring and incoming officials."

The moving pictures taken today may go into the records of the government and be handed down to future generations. From the time Taft signed the proclamation admitting Arizona to the hour when he took a short stroll through the White House grounds with Mrs. Taft, the moving picture men were busy. As a wind-up to the scene in the executive offices, the operators took an "action picture" of newspaper men stationed at the offices as they talked with visitors who came to see President Taft. Films will be submitted to the president for his approval within a few days.

Next to statehood the biggest thing going will be the sale of 100 business lots in Glendale Thursday.

1912 Found Us

right here on the job with the best stock of lumber, dimension, siding, casing, base, shingles, etc. on hand that we ever had at this time of the year and our only excuse for having it was our strong belief that the people of this community in 1912 are going to try out good, sound home investments in preference to a lot of those far away "Get Rich Quick" schemes that are like the song of the sirens. This lumber we have come from some of the best "quality" mills in the United States and we are not afraid to put it up against any material in the world for home building—price, quality, durability and long time satisfaction considered. You've got to see it to appreciate it, so come in and we'll talk over that new home of yours.
